

Ms. Alumni 2011-12

Beatrice Brown Jackson '67

Beatrice Jackson was born and raised in Norfolk, Virginia. She was educated in the Norfolk Public School system and graduated from the Norfolk Division of Virginia State College in 1967 with a bachelor of science degree in biology.

She and her husband of 45 years, Fred Jackson Jr., began their teaching careers in Brooklyn, N.Y. They successfully raised four children LaDonya, Shania and twins, Damalia and Fred III. They are also the proud grandparents of five.

Beatrice continued her education at Brooklyn College, earning a master's degree in education and a certificate in school psychology in 1986. She retired as a school psychologist in 2002.

During her 30 plus years as an educator, Beatrice has continued to serve her community and church families. She has taught Sunday school since she was 15 and has a long tenure as a Girl Scout leader. Beatrice sings in two church choirs and is one of the pioneering women deacons at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Beatrice is an active member of the Brooklyn Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., where she serves her community. Beatrice currently serves as the scholarship chair for the New York Metro Chapter of the NSU Alumni Association. She has also served as chapter president, vice president and chaplain.
